❖ Grant Writing Group (GWG) sponsored by the Office of Research Development & Commercialization will begin their next group in February. The program is designed to provide practical, step-by-step advice and critical peer review feedback on preparing competitive external grant submissions. It meets for multiple sessions over a period of 4 months. The Outcome for each participant will be a carefully vetted proposal ready for submission to an external funding agency. These are highly interactive sessions that involve the Grant Training Center based in Arlington, VA and they are FREE. Stay tune for more information!

Those who have participated in the Grant Writing Group include:

Dr. Alisa Rich

Dr. William Garner

Dr. Raheem Paxton

Dr. Hsueh-Fen Chen

Research Schmooze... another successful networking event!

SPH hosted a Research Schmooze in December here at UNTHSC, where we partnered with UNTHSC College of Pharmacy. With more than 20 faculty participating, the Schmooze offered pre-arranged meetings and an opportunity to share ideas.

Feedback needed The SPH Research Committee would like to find multiple groups of people to participate in a Research Schmooze. If you have ideas please email robyn.remotigue@unthsc.edu

NIH Webinar

Last November, the SPH Office of Research Services hosted an NIH Webinar. It was conducted by the NIH Center for Scientific Review (CSR), and designed to give participants useful insights into the NIH application submission and peer review process. There was also a great session on the Early Career Reviewer Program. If you were not able to attend, below are the links:

FAQ's posted by the Grant Training Center

Do I need a team to put my proposal together or should I just write it?

Proposal writing is a team effort, not a solitary activity. One of the best ways to get buy-in for what you are doing within your institution is to have a team collaborate on the project. This also demonstrates to the donor that more than one person is committed to the work.

Where do I find examples of winning proposals?

For Federal project proposals, ask the agency to give you a copy. However, be aware that research grants are notoriously difficult to find until after the research has been published. Some good sources are the National Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), Department of Defense (DOD), and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Foundation proposal examples may be available through the organization. Generally, however, you will not be able to secure a full proposal.

Great Work Faculty and Researchers on the following proposal submissions!
